

VILLA MABROUKA

KASBAH

TANGER, MAROC

Villa Mabrouka is owned by British designer Jasper Conran OBE who is also the creator and proprietor of L'Hôtel Marrakech. The hotel, Villa Mabrouka, will be opening in the summer of 2023. Promising a unique Moroccan experience alongside Mediterranean cuisine, poolside dining, beautiful suites and private events.

Awash with natural light, Villa Mabrouka features floor to ceiling glass doors opening out onto panoramic vistas across the gardens and ocean below. The roof terrace offers spectacular views of the dramatic coastline and crystalline sky.

Renowned designer Madison Cox has laid out the garden with towering palms, citrus trees, vines, hydrangea and bougainvillea framing the meeting of the Atlantic and Mediterranean waters; terraces are deftly positioned to give breath-taking views across the straits of Gibraltar. Within the grounds is a magnificent pool carved out of the mountain rock and filled by a cascading waterfall.

Villa Mabrouka has a fascinating and illustrious past. Once home to Yves Saint Laurent and Pierre Bergé it was described as 'the visual incarnation of a breath of fresh air.' Built in the 1940's, around a very much older structure, incorporating both modernist and traditional Moroccan architecture, it is a haven of privacy set in a lush expansive landscape within close walking distance of the ancient bustling Kasbah and Medina of Tangier - 'The White City.'

Located in the main residence, the suite bedroom has a large bed with a private terrace, high ceilings. The marble bathroom has both a shower and a bath.
